WELCOME

Welcome to the study of English Language and Literature here in Mary Immaculate College. In deciding to study this subject, you are joining a community of teachers, academics, scholars and researchers who are publishing to an international standard in their chosen areas of the discipline. We are very research-active and members of staff are widely published in national and international journals and by prestigious academic presses internationally.

At undergraduate level, the department studies the development of the English Language and Literature from the time of Shakespeare to the present, and we study a range of poems, plays, novels and dramas from representative periods of history. We are also heavily influenced by literary and cultural theory, and most of our modules will involve the study of the influence of theoretical areas such as Structuralism, Post-Structuralism, Deconstruction, Psychoanalysis, Postcolonial Theory, Postmodernism, Ecocriticism and cultural theory.

We also study the language of English in some detail, and our use of corpus linguistics, sociolinguistics and the area of applied linguistics in general, allow students to see how words and meaning evolve in the context of normally used words in discourse. We also offer modules in English as a Foreign Language (EFL), Teaching English as a Foreign Language (TEFL) and English for Academic Purposes. Some 46% of all bachelor of Arts Students study English, as it is a very popular subject.

At postgraduate level, we have graduated 58 PhD students over the last 16 years, and run very successful taught programmes:

- Taught MA in English Language and Literature (161 students graduated);
- Taught MA in Applied Linguistics (36 students graduated since 2015);
- Structured PhD in Applied Linguistics, which began in 2016, and in which 19 students are currently enrolled.

The Department is also heavily involved in the Mary Immaculate College Institute for Irish Studies, and a number of the faculty have published in this area.

In this time of COVID-19, we have reoriented the Department to online modes of delivery. Our taught postgraduate programmes:

- Taught MA in Modern English Literature;
- Taught MA in Applied Linguistics;
- Structured PhD in Applied Linguistics;

are now all available online. We have also changed our own mode of module delivery across our undergraduate programmes, and all lectures and tutorials are now available online and will facilitate flexible learning for all students. It is our aim that no students are disadvantaged but the current pandemic and we will ensure that our lecturers are available to all students to guide them through this difficult period. In English, some 95% of our First Year students choose to continue studying with us in Second and Final Year.
Whether you choose to study English for your entire undergraduate course, or whether you choose to go on to postgraduate work with us, you are welcome. English has become the world language of science, research and the internet. To study this subject is to be at the centre of developments across a range of areas in the arts and sciences. Literature is a way of getting to know ourselves more fully. Learning to read literature is central to understanding what makes us human. It allows us to channel words as purveyors of ideas, feelings, emotions and desires; it allows us to access the unconscious parts of ourselves, which influence us, but of which we are only dimly aware. To study literature is to study ourselves, and to learn to read critically is to learn to understand the world and our place in it. This is especially true in the screen-centred world in which we live where we spend a lot of our days reading and writing words onto screens; and in a world where language has become increasingly reduced to slogans and catch-calls wherein nuance and meaning are attenuated. The construction and interpretation of meaning is ever more important in your journey in life as language and meaning will shape your future.

We will provide you with the tools to set out with confidence on this journey – the destination is up to you.

COVID-19 MODULE AND ASSESSMENT CHANGES

Due to the restrictions placed on students due to the COVID-19 pandemic, we have made changes to our Modular assessment plans for Semester 1 2021-2022. In the literature section of the Department, each module will now be delivered online, while the tutorials will be delivered face to face. In the TEL and TEAL sections, lecturing will be blended (meaning some face-to-face and some online). All marks for each module will be available online.

All of these can be accessed through Moodle, and all tutorials will take place cross the Microsoft Teams platform or on Big Blue Button on Moodle.

Given the difficulties and constraints that the current situation places on students, the department is offering a flexible learning approach across the semester. Delivery will be asynchronous which means that you can download the lectures and play them back and listen to them at your own convenience.

Tutorials will be graded through exercises in a Tutorial Workbook which will be available on Moodle and which will be worth 10% over the full module. There will no longer be marks given for attendance at tutorials: the marks will be for completion of the 4 tutorial exercises. These can be completed in the student’s own time and submitted at a set date. Each module will be assessed by an essay and by two 5-day assignments which are like classroom tests and will have less strict referencing conventions.

Lecturers and tutors will be available to answer any questions, and full details of how to complete and submit all assessments and exercise will be available on Moodle.

REFERENCING IN A 5-DAY ASSIGNMENT

Referencing conventions will be less strict in the 5-Day Assignments, which are more like Classroom tests. Deadline/time limit:

This is a timed task. This means that you will have 5 days to do the essay. It will be released at 9:00 am on Day 1 and your deadline for submission to Moodle will be 11.59 midnight on Day 3.

Submission method:

Each essay will be submitted online by uploading to Turnitin on Moodle. Each essay task will provide instruction on where on Moodle to submit.

Word limit:

1500 words

How many secondary sources?

3-5 academic sources: academic books, chapters in books, journal articles (no Spark notes etc.)

Marking:

It will be marked like an exam. Please see our marking scheme from the Department Handbook 2021-2022.
Style sheet:
Double spaced, Times New Roman, font 12
Use single quotation marks
Do not put quotes in italics
Indent quotes of more than 50 words and do not use quotation marks on an indented quote
Poem titles in quotation marks
   ‘Death of a Naturalist’ = poem
Book titles in italics
   Death of a Naturalist = book
No need for ‘Works Cited’ section

References:
You are required to use references but only use author surnames without year (or page number) as we do in class tests. For example, use ‘as Eliot said …’ as opposed to (Eliot 1989, 21).
In essence, this is like an exam question except that you have longer to do it and can type the answer. You do not require page numbers in either primary or secondary sources.

Example of referring to in Wuthering Heights in a 5-day Assignment
There have been explanations of Wuthering Heights in terms of its relation to the motif of the fair-haired girl and the dark-haired boy in the Gondal poems; or by way of the motifs of doors and windows in the novel, as noted by Dorothy Van Ghent.

The book has been read, by C. P. Sanger, in terms of the symmetry of the family relations in the novel or of Emily Bronte’s accurate knowledge of the laws of private property in Yorkshire.

David Cecil has seen the book as organised thematically and symbolically around the tropes of two cosmological forces, storm and calm.

J Hillis Muller sees the book as a’ fictional dramatization of Emily Bronte’s religious vision’, while it has also been seen ‘as a dramatization of the relation between sexuality and death’, as ‘the approbation of life all the way to death’ (Georges Bataille).

The book has also been read from a feminist critical perspective, with Camille Paglia suggesting a ‘possible subtext as or as the occult dramatization of Emily Bronte’s lesbian passion for her dead sister, Maria, with Emily Bronte as Heathcliff’.

For Frank Kermode, ‘the book is an overdetermined semiotic structure which is irreducibly ambiguous by reason of its excess of signs’.
MODULE OUTLINES

EH4711  INTRODUCTION TO LITERATURE 1     FIRST YEAR     SEMESTER 1
2021-2022

(Dr John McDonagh, Dr Ian Hickey, Dr Eóin Flannery)

Lectures for this course will be delivered online on Moodle, and all assessments will be conducted online on the Turnitin platform on Moodle. Lectures will be asynchronous and lecturers will set up online chatrooms in Moodle to facilitate any questions that students may have. Instructions and guides will be made available separately. Lecturers will also have online hours where students can ask questions on Moodle or Teams (MIC will provide instructions and help on how to engage with these platforms). Tutorials will be delivered face to face in small groups.

There will be no examination week in this semester, so each module will be assessed by an essay (2 weeks under normal conditions) and two 5-Day assignments. These are like class tests with a more limited form of referencing, and you will have 5 days to complete each one.

I Grades awarded for undelivered essays, unattended tests, examinations etc., and all failing grades, may be cleared only by the assessment procedures linked to the autumn examinations.

The repeat examination will consist of three sections, i.e. poetry, drama and fiction. There will be no marks for tutorials in these exams. Material that was formerly examined by essay will be examined by exam questions in the repeats. Repeating students must answer one question from each of the section in 2 hours 15 minutes: each question will be awarded 33.33% of the total final grade. I Grade students must answer one question from the section(s) for which they have an I Grade (45 minutes per question). Exams will either be on campus or online, as dictated by prevailing health guidelines.

Plagiarism, or any form of unreferenced copying, will be dealt with by the MIC policy on plagiarism.

An initial lecture will be available in person at these times in the following rooms: (maximum attendance 80).
It will be given 3 times to students who will be divided into groups of less than 80 by their surnames:

| Friday       | 10.00 a.m.                  | Online      |

Course runs from Monday September 27th to Friday December 18th
Lectures will be delivered online and can be accessed from Moodle.
They will be uploaded on the Moodle page. Each module will have its own Moodle page, and students will be given a Moodle key. All lectures can be downloaded.
Tutorials will generally be given face to face. They will begin in Week 3 (October 11). All students must attend the tutorial group assigned them. Up to 10% of the total final grade will be awarded to each student for the completion of 4 activities in a Tutorial Workbook, which will be explained both in the online tutorials and also on the module’s Moodle page. The marks are given for the completion of assignments and not for attendance at tutorials. In the present situation, students may have difficulties accessing tutorials and we do not want to discriminate against any students in such a situation.

POETRY COURSE

Weeks 1-4: Monday 27th September until Friday 23rd October  (Dr John McDonagh)

This will be examined by an essay, set at 9am on Thursday 22nd October, and due back at 12 pm on Thursday 5th November. This essay must be submitted on the Turnitin platform on Moodle. GENERAL ENGLISH DEPARTMENT RULE: Late essays: (a) if submitted within 24 hours of the above deadline, the essay may forfeit one University grade below the grade awarded the essay by the lecturer; (b) if submitted within 48 hours of the above deadline, the essay will forfeit two University grades below the grade awarded the essay by the lecturer. (c) If not submitted within 48 hours of the above deadline, the essay will not be accepted for grade.

FICTION COURSE

Weeks 5-8: Monday 26th October until Friday 20th November  (Dr Ian Hickey)

The fiction course (for 30% of the total final grade) will be examined in a 5-day assignment. Dates: Monday 15th November at 9pm to Friday 20th November at 11.59pm.

DRAMA COURSE

Weeks 9-12: Monday 23rd November until Friday 18th December  (Dr Eoin Flannery)

The drama course (for 30% of the total final grade) will be examined in a 5-day assignment. Dates: Monday 13th December at 9am to 11.59 on Friday 18th December.
EH4713 THE DEVELOPMENT OF MODERN DRAMA  SECOND YEAR
SEMESTER 1     2021-2022

Lectures for this course will be delivered online on Moodle, and all assessments will be conducted online on the Turnitin platform on Moodle. Lectures will be asynchronous and lecturers will set up online chatrooms in Moodle to facilitate any questions that students may have. Instructions and guides will be made available separately. Lecturers will also have online hours where students can ask questions on Moodle or Teams (MIC will provide instructions and help on how to engage with these platforms).

There will be no examination week in this semester, so each module will be assessed by an essay (2 weeks under normal conditions) and two 5-Day assignments. These are like class tests with a more limited form of referencing, and you will have 5 days to complete each one.

I Grades awarded for undelivered essays, unattended tests, examinations etc., and all failing grades, may be cleared only by the assessment procedures linked to the autumn examinations.

The repeat examination will consist of three sections. There will be no marks for tutorials in these exams. Material that was formerly examined by essay will be examined by exam questions in the repeats. Repeating students must answer one question from each of the section in 2 hours 15 minutes: each question will be awarded 33.33% of the total final grade. I Grade students must answer one question from the section(s) for which they have an I Grade (45 minutes per question). Exams will either be on campus or online, as dictated by prevailing health guidelines.

Plagiarism, or any form of unreferenced copying, will be dealt with by the MIC policy on plagiarism.

Course runs from Monday 6th September to Friday 26th November

Lectures will be delivered online and can be accessed from Moodle.
They will be uploaded on the Moodle page. Each module will have its own Moodle page, and students will be given a Moodle key. All lectures can be downloaded.

Tutorials will generally be given face to face. They will begin in Week 3. All students must attend the tutorial group assigned them. Up to 10% of the total final grade will be awarded to each student for the completion of 4 activities in a Tutorial Workbook, which will be explained both in the online tutorials and also on the module’s Moodle page. The marks are given for the completion of assignments and not for attendance at tutorials. In the present situation, students may have difficulties accessing tutorials and we do not want to discriminate against any students in such a situation.

There will not be marks given for attendance.

ESSAY WRITING TECHNIQUES AND TIPS

Planning
Always make a plan before you start writing.

Writing
Opening Paragraphs are better if they compel the reader’s attention. A vital element of any answer is the definition of terms that the title brings up. Any term that is used in an essay needs a brief definition – but most especially if that term is included in the title as it is clear in this case that understanding of that term is part of what is being examined. Whenever possible a definition is best done through a quotation from the relevant text, with a brief comment of your own. Using quotations can be persuasive; they indicate that you are using critical material thoroughly.

Paragraphs A paragraph must be:
   a) focused around one central point
   b) be of sufficient length to have developed the point adequately, but not too long either
   c) contribute in an obvious and constructive way to the development of the argument of the essay
   d) is best planned out in advance of writing to ensure this measure of relevance and style

Quotations must be integrated fully into the essay by adequate discussion. To quote is not enough. It is better to select few quotes carefully, and devote adequate space to the commentary on each quote – elucidating its relevance to the argument.

Selection is a central to essay planning and essay writing. A careful and thoroughly planned argument is being looked for, so spend time on the planning, and plan the essay out paragraph by paragraph before starting any writing.

Revision is another important aspect of essay writing. Revise your essay for technical errors like misspelling or incorrect syntax or punctuation and also revise sentences for possible improvements in wording and length. Finally, ensure the argument follows through logically from start to finish, and ask yourself if the opening and closing paragraphs are sufficiently engaging and convincing.

USEFUL WEBSITES TO CONSULT ON ESSAY WRITING:
Study advice service: http://www.hull.ac.uk/studyadvice/
The website of the Study Advice Service at the University of Hull, while primarily aimed at on-campus students, has plenty of open access resources of use to any researcher or student needing advice and guidance on their academic writing style. Downloadable as PDF or Word files, the resources available include topics such as: the correct use of apostrophes and capital letters; advice on critical thinking; essay writing tips; and help on preparing for examinations and dissertations. Some topics are designed as quizzes and video material is also available, with advice on: time-management; referencing; and the risks of plagiarism. There is a very wide coverage of topics from the simplest confusions in grammar and punctuation to more complex and high-level problems. The site is aimed at students at undergraduate and post-graduate levels. This is a comprehensive and very well considered resource. It is also easy to use.

GUIDE TO CRITICAL WRITING

ESSAY AND UNDERGRADUATE DISSERTATION CHECKLIST

Before handing in your essay or Undergraduate Dissertation, you must ensure that your work conforms to the departmental style checklist:

Text should be in Times New Roman, double-spaced and justified on both sides.

1. The names of all books, films, TV programmes are in italics without any quotation marks:

   Preoccupations not ‘Preoccupations’

2. The titles of poems and stories in a collection are in single quotation marks, and not in italics:

   ‘Digging’ in Death of a Naturalist.

3. All quotations should be in single quotation marks:

   As Heaney said, ‘between my finger and my thumb’ (Heaney 1966, p. 4)

4. After every quote, you need the name of the author, the year of publication and the page:

   ‘Between my finger and my thumb’ (Heaney 1966, p. 4)

   This is the ONLY method of referencing accepted: a comma after the date, and then the page number. If you are citing two pages, it looks like this: (Heaney 1966, pp. 7-8)

5. Do not put the words in quotation marks in italics:

   ‘Between my finger and my thumb’

   NOT

   ‘Between my finger and my thumb’

6. If there is a quote within another quote, the inner quote is in double quotation marks. This is the only time you use these.

   ‘As Stephen entered the room, his father shouted at him “Get out of here immediately”, he said’.

7. The style used in an Undergraduate Dissertation is a formal one. Avoid the colloquial. Avoid contractions, for example:

   ‘cannot’ NOT ‘can’t’;

   ‘do not’ NOT ‘don’t’;

   ‘it is’ NOT ‘it’s’;

   ‘will not’ NOT ‘won’t’.

8. In a sentence where there is a quote, the full stop comes at the end AFTER the brackets:

   Heaney, as a located subject of his time, is voiced as well, as he says how it ‘is difficult to extend full sympathy to the predicament of that million among us who would ask the other half-million to exalt themselves by being humbled’ (Heaney 1980, p. 32).

9. If you have a quote that is over 40 words long, indent it and do not use quotation marks. All such quotes are introduced by a colon:

   However, he is also aware of how the actions of members of that minority may cause similar ‘twists’ in the minds and heart of the majority, and he describes it in a manner which underscores the point made earlier in our discussion about the impossibility of language attempting to access aspects of the real:

But to stop here would be to acquiesce to the political and ideological givens that have created his subjectivity, and this would not be allowing the complexity and plurality of response that the poetically-sanctioned field of force can enable deeper levels of signification to be fully understood. (Heaney 1980, p. 32)

So, Heaney’s point here is that poetic language has some form of privileged access to areas of experience that are not fully accessible to the normal language of the Symbolic order.

10. All quotes and style norms are in Cite It Right 4, which can be downloaded from Moodle, the LAN or the College website.

11. Ensure you have an accurate Works Cited section at the end of the dissertation

CITATION AND PLAGIARISM

Citing: referring to sources you quote within your document. This brief citation refers the reader to the exact place in your reference list or bibliography where you will provide the extended details of the source.

Works Cited: a list of all references cited in preparing the document. This is an example of in-text citing (citations are in bold for demonstration only):

This is significant for Lacan, as he has often spoken about the aspect of reality that escapes signification in language, which he termed the ‘real.’ It, like the unconscious, can only be accessed in oblique ways by language, and his notion of ‘full speech’ is a type of speech that will in some way enunciate aspects of this real: ‘this full speech in which its base in the unconscious should be revealed’ (Lacan 1991, 52), and the language of poetry is a possible source of such revelation. As Michael Lewis asks: ‘would full speech be speech that did not elide or ignore the material density of language, something like poetry?’ (Lewis 2008, 41).

This is how the entries would look in your Works Cited list:

Author’s name, date, title, place of publication, publisher

Plagiarism

In accordance with the aims outlined in the MIC Academic Integrity Policy http://www.mic.ul.ie/academicintegrity/Documents/MICAcademicIntegrityPolicy.pdf
The Department takes an active role in policing any and all forms of cheating, plagiarism and syndication.
The department uses Turnitin software for all essays, dissertations and projects. A database of older essays is on file in this software so that plagiarism from within the corpus of student essays is also addressed. Cases of plagiarism are dealt with by the head of department on an individual basis in consultation with the Assistant Registrar. The established protocol is a meeting between the student, the lecturer involved in assessing the module and the head of department. The President of the Students’ Union is also in attendance. Penalties vary in accordance with the degree of plagiarism and / or syndication, as well as the intent to cheat. These penalties include failing the portion of the module, failing the module, or being referred to the student status disciplinary committee.

As well as overt plagiarism, the department also stresses the use of peer-reviewed essays and articles as core to referencing. The College library has access to a number of academic repositories of peer-reviewed journals as well as a significant number of electronic texts. These are the resources that are required for referencing: JStor, Literature Online; Project Muse or any peer-reviewed material that can be located by the College’s generic search engine ‘Summon’. The following sources are indicative of what the department does not consider to be adequate sources for reference. Students will lose marks by adverting to these websites or to similar ones (this is an indicative and not an exhaustive list):

Unsuitable Websites:

- http://www.about.com  http://www.allhonours.ie
- http://www.skooool.ie  http://www.sparknotes.com
GRADE DESCRIPTORS

In essays or dissertations, marks will be deducted for incorrect use of the departmental reference scheme as outlined in this handbook and in Cite it Right 4. This is not an issue for examinations or classroom tests, where reference to the author of a book or article will be the norm.

UNDERGRADUATE DISSERTATION

English is one of the most popular subjects for undergraduate dissertations. We allow students, in consultation with their chosen supervisor, to select their own topics from a broad range of areas. Personal interest in a topic, author or text is the necessary starting point for a strong UGD. Students are expected to take responsibility for their own work by arranging a meeting with their chosen supervisor and explaining what they hope to do. The more contact that students have with their supervisors, the better they will be able to access the necessary advice and skills required to complete a good quality UGD. The structural outline (below) forms a strong structural spine for the project, and students are encouraged to complete it and then discuss it with their supervisors.

CHOICE OF TEXTS

You cannot choose any text which is on the Mary Immaculate College English Literature courses as a text to study in your dissertation. You may choose another text by the same author. For example, you cannot write about Should Have Got Off At Sydney Parade, by Paul Howard as it is in the course of EH4711 Introduction to English 1. However, you can write about other books in the Ross O’Carroll Kelly series.

UNDERGRADUATE DISSERTATION CHECKLIST

Before handing in any drafts of your Undergraduate Dissertation, you must ensure that your work conforms to the departmental style checklist above on p. 18.

STRUCTURAL OUTLINE

Introduction: 1000 words

- What you are studying
- Why it is important
- Reasons for your choice of texts
- Thesis statement – what you hope to prove
- The approach you are taking
- A theoretical approach:

  1. What theoretical concepts are used in the research? What hypotheses, if any, are you using?
  2. Why have you chosen this theory?
  3. What are the implications of using this theory?
  4. How does the theory relate to the existing literature, your problem statement and your epistemological and ontological positions? How has this theory been applied by others in similar contexts? What can you learn from them and how do you differ?
  5. How do you apply the theory and measure the concepts (with reference to the literature review/problem statement)?
• A chapter outline
• A brief review of the literature

Chapter Structure:

Either:

• Introduction 1000 words
• Chapter One 2000 words
• Chapter Two 2000 words
• Chapter Three 2000 words
• Conclusion 500 words

Or

• Introduction 1000 words
• Chapter One 1500 words
• Chapter Two 1500 words
• Chapter Three 1500 words
• Chapter Four 1500 words
• Conclusion 500 words

These will be organised around any of the following:

• A single text each
• Comparison or contrast of 2 or 3 texts in each chapter
• A specific theme in each chapter
• Different theoretical perspective in each chapter
• Specific aspects of texts – character, tone, theme, context, plot

Works Cited:

• List of primary texts
• List of secondary (critical) texts
• List of websites – use academic journals or essays on the web – not just websites

Evidence of reading, of both primary and secondary texts, is necessary if you are looking for a high mark.
POSTGRADUATE STUDIES

The department is very active on the postgraduate area having graduated 57 PhD students since 2004.
Our Taught MA in Literature programme has graduated over 161 students and we have graduated a further 10 research MA students.
We also offer a Taught MA in Applied Linguistics (33 students graduated since 2015) as well as a Structured PhD in Applied Linguistics, which began in 2016, in which 16 students are currently enrolled.
Our postgraduate students have found employment across a range of third level institutions, including the following:
Oxford Brookes University;
Edge Hill University, Liverpool
Mater Dei Institute of Education, Dublin
Dun Laoghaire Institute of Art, Design and Technology, Dublin
Dublin City University
Aarhus University, Denmark

Module Descriptions

Semester 1

EH5712  Poetics and Politics of Irish Identity
This module will explore conscious and unconscious aspects of identity across a range of contemporary Irish narrative and poetic texts. It will explore how different and singular aspects of identity are voiced and created in a contemporary Irish context. Looking at the chosen texts through the lenses of deconstructive, psychoanalytic and presentist theoretical paradigms, the module will explore how fictive voices can often access and express truths that are not available to normative discourses. It will also historicise the modes of identity within which these texts were produced, as well as demonstrating how the works deconstruct and interrogate such notions of identity. A comparative and contrastive investigation of the poetic construction of a selected number of contemporary Irish texts will also be offered. Issues of genre-specific construction will be addressed in poetry and the novel. Texts will span a continuum of high and popular culture, looking at issues of symbolic, cultural and social capital, and modes of close reading, as well as the imbrication of texts and contexts, will be used as critical tools, along with theoretically-driven readings. The course will look at 21st century poetry and novels, in order to offer a critique of current poetic and political imbrications of identity. Among the texts taught are: Sean Hewitt, Tongues of Fire (2020); Stephen Sexton, If All the World and Love Were Young (2019); Sally Rooney, Normal People (2018); Naoise Dolan, Exciting Times – A Novel (2020); Anne Enright, The Gathering, (2007) and Paul Howard, Braywatch, (2020).

EH5741  Modernism Texts and Contexts
This module introduces a range of experimental writing by novelists and short story writers and explores ways in which these works reflect the multiple transformations of society during the late nineteenth and early twentieth century. A specific area of enquiry in this module is an examination of the emergence of modernist aesthetics and the shaping of modernist texts though shifts in print culture and publishing practices. Recent scholarship in the digital literary humanities and intersections with book history, print and periodicals culture as well as in editing theory has offered modernist scholars, through new digital technologies, multiple ways in which to access and understand modernist literary texts. Engaging with these different fields including the digital literary humanities will develop new skills, fresh approaches to the set texts and a broader understanding of the modernist period. Among the texts to be studies are: Katherine Mansfield’s Selected Stories; Olive Schreiner’s Story of an African Farm; Oscar Wilde’s *The Picture of Dorian Gray; The Young Rebecca: Writings of Rebecca West 1911-1917; Virginia Woolf: Selected Short Stories and Virginia Woolf’s Orlando.

EH5771  Migration and Biopolitics in 21st Century Literature
This module will explore questions of displacement, migration, and belonging in the 21st Century. Through analysis of a range of novels and short stories from 2000 to present this module will determine how cultural production is responding to some of the most important sociological questions of contemporary life. This weekly seminar will analyse how literature is asking us to engage with contemporary discourses of borders, national security, global mobility, diaspora, and identity. It will analyse detailed knowledge of a diverse range of contemporary world literature detailing the experience of migrations and movements, and offer an understanding of some of the theoretical tenets fundamental to contemporary literary production and critical interpretation. It will formulate an awareness of the political and cultural complexities involved in the study of issues such as: ethnicity; globalisation; migration, borders, biopolitics, nation, and poverty and inequality. As countries close their borders COVID-19 has heightened our awareness of the relevance of biopolitics in healthcare and movement. Among the texts studied are: Zadie Smith, White Teeth (2000); Chika Unigwe, On Black Sisters’ Street: A Novel (2012); Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie, Americanah (2013); Vladimir Lorchenkov, The Good Life Elsewhere (2014); Mohsin Hamid, Exit West (2017); Viet Thanh Nguyen, The Refugees (2017) and Melatu Uche Okorie, This Hostel Life (2018).

EH5761 Research Methodology 1
The aim of the two research methods module is to prepare students for the thesis component of the course. The first module will focus on the selection of a research question, the structuration of the argument and the development of a critical matrix through which to analyse the argument. Research seminars with members of staff and with doctoral students in which issues of subject and topic-selection, referencing conventions, the balanced use of theoretical paradigms and the development of structural and argumentative skills will be analysed. Interview and discussions will facilitate the choosing of a thesis supervisor, who will help with the other sections of the module. A planned structural outline will be developed, along with an outline bibliography of both hard copy and electronic resources. The University of Limerick variant of the Harvard referencing style will be used, and the referencing of electronic media, such as websites and electronic books will be studied. Use of bibliographical tools such as RefWorks and Endnote will also be modelled. A detailed dissertation outline structural form will be completed by each student at the end of this module. Students are also encouraged to attend selected sessions of the department’s postgraduate seminar, delivered online.

EH5742 Modern American Fiction
This module will study a range of work by American authors writing in the genres of the novel and the short story. It will explore the diversity of experience reflected in these texts in terms of a changing socio-cultural context for their writing from the 1930s to the 21st century as well as exploring experimentation in narrative style. These texts will also be read through a theoretical lens including postmodernism, feminist theory, race theory and trauma theory. The texts being studied cover this particular timespan in order to chart a changing literary response to cultural upheavals in a society defined by contradiction and diversity. This course aims to provide students with an insight into a range of those diverse voices and diverse responses to profound challenges associated with race, gender, and class to name but a few. Among the texts to be studied are: Zora Neale Hurston, Their Eyes Were Watching God; Raymond Chandler, The Big Sleep; Ernest Hemingway The Snows of Kilimanjaro And Other Stories; Walter Mosley Devil in a Blue Dress; A Good Man is Hard to Find and Other Stories; Toni Morrison, Beloved; Don DeLillo, Falling Man (2007) and Richard Ford’s The Granta Book of the American Short Story (Vol 2).

EH5792 World Literature
The module will introduce students to a major new field of literary and cultural inquiry, asking them to engage with contemporary literary and cultural theory and to participate in advanced training in academic writing skills including bibliographic skills, the use electronic research tools for sourcing, storing and presenting research materials. This module provides a study of modern and contemporary literature in varieties of English and in translation, from a diverse range of national and regional cultures. Two central aims of the module are 1) to explore the relationship between socio-cultural context and literary genre and form, and 2) to consider the developments, appropriations and re-formations of the English language across the world. Students will investigate semantic and other issues involved in literary translation and will develop knowledge and insight into diverse philosophies, religions, ideologies and cultural movements. The module will be interdisciplinary in form and content, and will theorize and historicise key contemporary texts, across genres, from Asia, Africa, Europe, and the Americas. Among the texts studied are: Jean Rhys, Voyage in the Dark (1934); V.S. Naipaul, A House for Mister Biswas (1961); Jorge Luis Borges, Labyrinths: Selected Stories and Other Writings (1962); Arundhati Roy, The God of Small Things (1997); W.G. Sebald, Austerlitz (2001); David Mitchell, Cloud Atlas (2004); Chimamanda Ngozi Adiche Half of a Yellow Sun (2006); Nadeem Aslam, The Wasted Vigil (2008); Yiyun Li, The Vagrants (2009) and Colum McCann, Let the Great World Spin (2009).

EH5732 Contemporary Postcolonial Literature and Theory
With the collapse of global colonial empires in the early decades of the twentieth century, post-colonial theory has emerged as one of the most important critical theories attempting to articulate a response to centuries of colonial occupation. Both in literature and critical theory, post-colonialism seeks to explore the complex matrix of linguistic, historic and nationalistic discourses that has emerged in the wake of the colonial exercise. Writers such as Margaret Attwood, Salman Rushdie and J. M. Coetzee exemplify the post-colonial quest for self–realisation within a dual tradition, and this trait can also be clearly seen in the work of writers from Ireland, Africa, Australia, and the Middle East. Post-colonial theory, exemplified in the writings of Edward Said, Homi K. Bhabha, Gayatri Spivak, Ngũgĩ wa Thiong’o, Stuart Hall and Declan Kiberd, amongst others, provide crucial insights into the development of contemporary post-colonial ideologies and provide an essential platform for the analysis of the literature of postcolonial cultures. Among the texts to be studied are: Benedict Anderson, Imagined Communities; Bill Ashcroft, Gareth Griffiths and Helen Tiffin, The Post-Colonial Studies Reader; Homi K. Bhabha, Nation and Narration; Edward Said, Orientalism; Ngũgĩ wa Thiong'o, Decolonising the Mind; and Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak, ‘Can the Subaltern Speak?’

EH5782 Research Methodology 2 Pass/Fail

Research seminars with members of staff, and individual meetings with advisors during the semester are seen as part of the dissertation writing process. The structural outline which was prepared in the previous module is now used to create a timeline and a chapter word-count target. The management of time in terms of reading, note-taking and drafting individual chapters is analysed through seminars, workshops and attendance at the Departmental postgraduate Seminar, presented online. A schedule of meetings, with appointed tasks and timelines is set up in this module, all leading to a smooth transition from the modules into the thesis-drafting and writing stage of the programme.

Dissertation

EH5751 & EH5752 Dissertation

This module is one wherein self-directed research is conducted under the guidance and supervision of a faculty member. The skills learned in EH5761 Research Methodology 1, and in EH5782 Research Methodology 2 are utilised to bring this project to fruition. The dissertation is an individual project which asks and addresses a central research question, or questions; engages with primary material through dialogue with secondary and critical sources; as well as being guided by a theoretically-informed reading practice. A number of iterations are produced which, with editorial and argumentative emendations by the supervisor, and with learned self-editing and peer-editing input, will lead to a completed piece of research of between 15,000 and 20,000 words. Over the course of these 4 research method and output modules, students will:

- learn how to write a research thesis of between 15,000 and 20,000 words;
- develop skills in working with an academic supervisor and taking guidance and advice;
- become proficient in synthesising theoretical and critical opinions with their own argument;
- gain proficiency in the use of referencing software such as RefWorks or Endnote, and in the application of the UL/MIC Cite It Right stylesheet;
- develop good self-editing and communication qualities;
- enable the completion of a long project through efficient time-management and drafting processes.

Final submission of the dissertation is in Late July 2022.
This course was set up in 2015-2016 as a blended learning option to add to the department’s suite of postgraduate offerings. It is aimed primarily at Language Teachers and other language professionals. The Masters in Applied Linguistics aims to provide a broad-based course of study in language description (language systems: grammar, lexis and phonology), theories of Applied Linguistics, theories of Second Language Acquisition, frameworks for the study of discourse, sociolinguistics, as well as specialist research skills for the empirical analysis of language in context.

To offer the optimum flexibility, the course is offered in two possible delivery formats: fully online or blended (a combination of face-to-face and online delivery).
PROGRAMME STRUCTURE

Typically, the course runs over three 12-week semesters. Typically, Semesters 1 and 2 will each have four taught modules (lectures and course work). Semester 3 will be dedicated to the writing of a dissertation. The three semesters can be taken back-to-back in one calendar year (September – August), using the summer period for the dissertation module. Alternatively, the course can be taken over one and a half years. Part-time options are also available. Each module will involve ongoing assessment, such as essays and oral presentations. For those students opting for the blended and online delivery formats, the assessments will have online options for completion.

*Elective modules will run subject to adequate uptake.

Students must meet the normal registration deadlines in accordance with academic regulation 1.3 (UL Handbook).

Students exiting the programme, having successfully completed 60 ECTS, not including the dissertation (30 credits), can do so with a Graduate Diploma in Applied Linguistics (level 9 on the NQF). Students who meet the progression requirements including required grade average on the MA programme will be given the option of transferring to Year 2 of the Structured PhD in Applied Linguistics.
Module Descriptions

Semester 1: Core Modules

Core Features of Language: grammar, vocabulary and phonology

Syllabus:
The interrelationship between grammar, vocabulary (lexis) and phonology as a language system will be explored. The module will describe the formal systems of English, examining the individual building blocks of lexis (e.g. morphemes, collocation, colligation, semantic relations), syntax (e.g. word classes, phrases, clauses, tenses, modality) and phonology (phonemes, intonation patterns, features of connected speech), and the ways in which these work together and are used to create meanings in context. It will also examine the notion of fixed multi-word units, both integrated and fragmented, which form collocational and colligational patterns. There will be a strong focus on how grammar, vocabulary and phonology interplay with discourse and how this can be explored in naturally-occurring spoken and written language.

Research Methods in Applied Linguistics

Syllabus:
The module will focus on methodological paradigms and experimental designs typically used in Applied Linguistics, including both qualitative, quantitative and mixed methods approaches so that students can choose an appropriate methodology for a particular research question in a particular context of language use. The course will also cover practical methodological steps and procedures for research in Applied Linguistics, including the identification of a research question, finding sources for a literature review using appropriate databases, the practicalities of questionnaire and interview design, speaker information sheets, recording protocols, transcription and coding procedures. The ethical issues that arise in research within Applied Linguistics will also be discussed, as well as the clearance procedures that are required. The course will also focus on appropriate analytical frameworks for the analysis of quantitative and qualitative data from recordings, questionnaires or other empirical sources. The module will also prepare students to write a research proposal suitable for an MA dissertation.

Academic Writing: lexicogrammar and discourse

Syllabus:
The module will cover the defining features of the formal institutionalised genre of academic writing, from lexical to discourse level. At a lexical level, the Academic Word List (AWL) (an empirically-derived baseline, Coxhead, 2000) will be compared with other empirical samples of language in terms of profiling the different lexical distribution of the genre. At a grammatical level, the module will examine key features which characterise academic writing, such as pre-noun-head modification (e.g. evaluative adjectives, adverb + adjective coordination, compound adjectives); post-noun-head modification and complementation (e.g. prepositional phrases, embedded prepositional phrases, non-finite clauses); nominalisation (including nouns which express verb-type meanings and adjective-type meanings); textual signalling through impersonal pronoun it and the demonstrative pronouns this and that, the verb phrase; the use, and changes, of tense in abstracts, reporting procedures, summarising findings, and paraphrase and citation; modal verbs and other modal expressions; active and passive voice, and so on. At a discourse level, the module will look at text organisation through anaphoric and cataphoric reference. It will also address the key role of hedging, boosting and intensification, especially in reporting results. It will also entail a discourse level comparison of expository, comparative and argumentative texts structures. The academic corpora (over 2.5 million words of data) held by MIC, in partnership with Cambridge University Press, will form the basis of hands-on empirical sampling for lexicogrammatical pattern analysis as part of this module.

SEMESTER 1: ELECTIVE MODULES (CHOOSE ONE)

Elective Option 1: Introduction to Sociolinguistics

Syllabus:
The module covers key concepts in sociolinguistics, including terminological and definitional issues in relation to language, dialect, variety and standard. It will also explore language variation and change; social networks; sociolinguistics of speech communities; diglossia, code choice, -mixing and -switching; regional, social and gender variation and linguistic variables; language contact; bilingualism and multilingualism; globalisation of language; style and register; language attitudes and ideologies. It also examines approaches, methods and applications in the study of sociolinguistics.

Elective Option 2: Second Language Acquisition

Syllabus:
This module provides an introduction to fundamental concepts and approaches in Second Language Acquisition (SLA). An understanding of how the competing models of how languages are learnt is a core requirement for action research in language learning and language acquisition processes. This module will provide a solid grounding in these models and related debates. It will explore an interdisciplinary approach to learning from linguistic, psychological and social perspectives. Another key purpose of the modules is to explore the implications of SLA theories and research for second language teaching and learning practice.

Elective Option 3: Classroom and Learner Discourse

Syllabus:
The module focuses on the interactional structure of teacher and learner discourse, looking empirically at the interactions between teacher and learners and between learners (peer-to-peer). It seeks to develop understandings of the key interactional features and competencies of classroom discourse using analytical paradigms of conversation analysis (CA), discourse analysis (DA) and critical discourse analysis (CDA), underpinned by corpus linguistic (CL) methodological tools. The module also focuses on learners' language in assessment (e.g. oral exams, essays) in the context of linguistic and interactional competencies. A key facet of the module will be to enable participants to transcribe, code and analyse empirical classroom and learner data so as to better understand this teaching and learning context and the linguistic and interactional competencies which it demands.

Elective Option 4: Introduction to Irish English

Syllabus:
The module outlines the history and development of the English language in Ireland from its arrival in the twelfth century to the language shift from Irish to English and more recent developments in the form of the so called ‘vowel-shift’ in the late twentieth century. Features of Irish English grammar, vocabulary and phonology are examined as well as the pragmatics of particular Irish English constructions. The relationship of Irish English to the Irish language is explored and questions of substratum and superstratum influences are considered. Additionally, the module focuses on issues of language and identity (in relation to Irish English) and the notion of language ideologies and authenticity in relation to the use of Irish English are explored, drawing particularly on the context of literature and the media. Participants are introduced to methodologies and approaches to the study of Irish English. Given the movement away from the largely descriptive linguistic approach to empirical methodologies based on corpus linguistics, students are given hands-on experience in the use of corpora to investigate features of Irish English using the UL-MIC Limerick Corpus of Irish English.

SEMESTER 2: CORE MODULES

Approaches to Language in Context

Syllabus
This module will introduce approaches to the study of spoken language such as the Birmingham school of discourse analysis (DA) and the ethnomethodology-based approach of conversation analysis (CA). In addition, approaches that can be applied to both spoken and written texts such as critical discourse analysis (CDA), pragmatics and genre analysis will also be explored. The module will consider these approaches in light of developments in spoken and written corpus linguistics. These models will be investigated through practical analytic tasks using authentic spoken and written discourse from a variety of different discourse contexts (for example, family discourse, academic discourse, workplace discourse, etc.). The module will also explore models to best analyse the ‘new discourses’ such as blogs, wikis, Twitter and other electronic texts.

Issues in Applied Linguistics

Syllabus:
This module introduces students to the key issues and debates in Applied Linguistics and serves to provide students with a broad understanding of these core concerns. Models of language teaching will be critically appraised and dominant paradigms of second language acquisition will be evaluated. Notions of linguistic competence will be examined, including inter-cultural pragmatic competence in the context of cross-cultural and variational pragmatics. The module will also address issues of multilingualism and language in a global context, including debates about teaching English as a Lingua Franca (ELF), the appropriacy of Content and Language Integrated Learning (CLIL) as a model, as well as bilingualism versus biculturalism. Other key debates include the definition of Applied Linguistics; which English should be taught; authenticity in language teaching materials; spoken versus written language. Within each area of the module, students will be introduced to a range of perspectives, allowing them to critically evaluate different stances in respect of the debates that currently occupy Applied Linguists.

Advanced Research Methodology

Syllabus:
This module builds on the Research Methods in Applied Linguistics module by looking at aspects of the dissertation such as augmentative structure, self-editing and self-regulation techniques and the development of more honed research questions and hypotheses as part of the proposal writing process. Research seminars with members of faculty and individual meetings with supervisors during the semester are seen as part of the thesis proposal writing process. The structural outline which was prepared in the previous module (Research Methods in Applied Linguistics) is now used to create a timeline and a chapter word-count target. The management of time in terms of reading, note-taking, drafting and evaluating and writing for research is analysed through seminars, workshops and meetings with supervisors. A schedule of meetings, with appointed tasks and timelines is set up in this module, all leading to a smooth transition from the module into the thesis drafting and writing stage of the programme.

SEMESTER 2: ELECTIVE MODULES (CHOOSE ONE)

Elective Option 1: Corpus Linguistics and Language Teaching

Syllabus:
The module will explore the contribution of corpus linguistics to language learning and teaching and will examine the opportunities offered by corpus linguistics to the learner and the teacher. The module will not only focus on how the teacher can use corpus linguistics in the classroom to create materials but also on how students can be encouraged to use corpora themselves (data-driven learning). There will be a focus of the applications and output of corpus linguistics for language teaching and this will be done by thoroughly familiarising students with corpus software applications and core findings from the field of corpus linguistics. Skills in building small corpora for pedagogical purposes will be developed. Learner corpora will also be used in order to perform cross-cultural contrastive analyses. The data-driven learning approach will be critically reviewed. Therefore, the limitations of using corpora in language teaching and the potential pitfalls arising from their uncritical use will also be explored.

Elective Option 2: Phonetics and Phonology

Syllabus
This module will focus on the core elements of phonetics and phonology. Specifically, in relation to phonetics, the module will explore the physiology of speech, including the points and manner of articulation and the transcription of speech sounds, using the International Phonetic Alphabet (IPA). In terms of phonology, it will examine the speech sound patterns, connected speech processes (such as assimilation, coalescence, elision, liaison) and the distinction between the segmental and suprasegmental features of speech. Core to this module is the contextualising of phonology in terms of discourse intonation in relation to lexis, grammar, discourse and pragmatics in spoken language. Additionally, the module will foster the skills needed for the application of phonetic and phonological knowledge and expertise in the analysis, diagnosis and remediation of L2 speech (i.e. learner pronunciation).

Elective Option 3: Discourse and Pragmatics

Syllabus:
Core issues of concern in Pragmatics such as deixis, implicature, politeness, speech act theory and historical pragmatics will be outlined, discussed and evaluated critically. The module will also explore notions of universality by considering pragmatics from both inter- and cross-cultural viewpoints. Central to this module is the consideration of naturally-occurring data in the study of Pragmatics. Traditional data collection methods in Pragmatics (involving elicitation), such as discourse completion tests, role-plays and interviews will be assessed. However, Corpus Pragmatics, a relatively recent methodological development, will be the primary analytical framework proposed. Corpus Pragmatics allows for the interpretation of spoken or written meaning, with an emphasis on providing empirical evidence for this interpretation.

Elective Option 4: Analysing Media Discourse

Syllabus:
The module will explore how mediated discourse has changed rapidly with the advent of new media. To this end, Goffman’s Participation Framework will be used as an overarching model for the study of media discourse and change. It will form the basis for the exploration of how participation frameworks have altered with the advent of virtual and social media, in particular. The module will explore, through empirical texts, how different models of discourse analysis can be deployed in the study of media discourse, including the Birmingham School of Discourse Analysis, Conversation Analysis and, especially, Critical Discourse Analysis. The critical study of language and power, within the framework of Critical Discourse Analysis, will also be aided by the use of Corpus Linguistics, which will facilitate the largescale empirical analysis of media discourse, especially in the context of news media.
STRUCTURED PHD IN APPLIED LINGUISTICS

The doctoral programme in Applied Linguistics, launched in September 2016, is a four-year fulltime programme, which includes a combination of taught modules (in year 1 of the programme) and individual research, the principal component being the doctoral thesis. The core educational principle of the programme is that it will be research-led and will entail engaging with cutting-edge research across a range of sub-fields of Applied Linguistics. A range of pedagogical strategies will be deployed to promote active research-led learning and scholarship. Residential summer schools will also be a key component of the programme and will allow students to engage with high profile Applied Linguists and also to present their own research, with the aim of fostering their development as independent researchers.

The taught component of the Structured PhD in Applied Linguistics is as outlined in the MA in Applied Linguistics programme i.e. both programmes have a common syllabus with regard to core and elective taught modules. Elective modules will run subject to adequate uptake.
Whether you choose to take English for one year, or whether you wish to stay with us to PhD level, we hope you will enjoy the experience that we offer here in Mary Immaculate College, and that you will leave us with a more open mind and with a greater love of, and understanding of, English language and literature.
PUBLICATIONS AND RESEARCH

Members of the department of English language and literature are all highly research-active. This means that they are creating new knowledge about any aspects of literature and the publish this knowledge and research in academic books, chapters in academic books and articles in academic journals. This means that students are being taught by people who have both national and international reputations as experts in their fields of study.

The following pages outline the different areas of research and publications produced by members of the Department since 2015.
