

Peter Lang is delighted to invite you to the virtual launch of

Reimagining Irish Studies for the 21st Century

Edited by Eamon Maher (Technological University Dublin)

and

Eugene O'Brien (Mary Immaculate College, University of Limerick)

It takes place on April 8 at 5 pm on Zoom

This is the 100th volume in the Reimagining Ireland Series, edited by Eamon Maher.

The multi-disciplinary interventions in this volume brilliantly succeed in revisiting and interrogating the field of Irish Studies, broadening its ambit, and mapping trajectories for future engagement. This is an insightful and explorative collection that expertly takes stock of Irish Studies whilst driving it forward.

Anne Fogarty, Professor of James Joyce Studies, University College Dublin

This milestone hundredth volume in the series contains essays that reimagine the potential future of Irish Studies in a new century and is remarkable for its diversity, disciplinary range, and dash.

Joe Cleary, Professor of English Studies, Yale University

It will be launched by Professor Anne Fogarty, Professor of James Joyce Studies in University College Dublin.

A letter of endorsement from his excellency Michael D. Higgins, President of Ireland, will be read out at the event.

His Excellency M. Vincent Guérend, French Ambassador to Ireland, will also say a few words.
